

Wine, first into India.

The exclusive route to market for New Zealand's independent wineries, ahead of the NZ India FTA.

India is the world's fastest growing premium beverage market and, until now, one of its most protected. The FTA signed on 27 April 2026 rewrites the economics. The wineries already on the shelf when it takes effect will own the category.

66 to 83%

Cut in wine tariffs over ten years, with a most favoured nation guarantee for New Zealand

US$985m

Forecast Indian wine market by 2034, from US$266m today, growing about 15% a year

WHAT WE DO FOR A WINERY

India readiness

FSSAI registration, labelling, state by state excise strategy and pricing that still works after duties, distribution and margin.

Brand building

Positioning for the Indian premium consumer: trade tastings, sommelier and HORECA education, festival and gifting season presence.

Route to market

Vetted importers and distributors matched to your wines and price point; premium on trade and fine retail listings in the right states.

Collective scale

Consolidated shipments and a curated New Zealand portfolio that gives an independent the negotiating weight of a major exporter.

WHY NEW ZEALAND WINS THE INDIAN SHELF

- India's wine culture is in its infancy: the brands listed before tariffs fall will spend the next decade compounding, late arrivals will spend it negotiating.
- Clean, green and certified sustainable at the far edge of the world. For India's rising premium consumer that purity is the luxury, and no other origin can tell the story.
- Queenstown and Central Otago are the New Zealand India already dreams of. The wine from the place in every honeymoon brochure is a ready made hook.
